Embroidery and Silk Painting Workshop with Ann Holden

'Phoenix Rising from the Flames'

This stunning interpretation of one of the hall's medieval roof bosses is deceptively easy to create. The phoenix rising from the flames is firstly painted with lustrous metallic paints, then each type of metallic thread is identified and the correct method of stitching is shown. This workshop is suitable for the beginner as well as the more experienced stitcher.

Requirements

Piece of white silk dupion, 30cm x 27cm

Piece of fine to medium weight calico, same size

Metallic threads will be available to buy on the day as a pack for a small fee. If you already have some metallic threads, bring them along and just buy what you need. I will provide the paints.
